CLASS OF 2012 (SENIORS)

The 2012 class in Colorado is very strong and they proved it in this event. This class has quite a few legitimate Division I prospects and a few dozen other prospects who will be outstanding Division II players in the future. The camp was led by the three Co-Most Outstanding Players in Shane Jensen (6'7" CF Arapahoe), Riley Ryan (6'5" SG Sheridan, WY) and Brandon Applehans (5'10" PG Standley Lake).

Jensen is simply one of the most effective players in the state and should be a huge target for most of the RMAC schools. He is a great leader who rebounds well and scores in a variety of ways around the rim. He also keeps defenders honest with a nice jump shot and plays very hard. Ryan is a high energy wing who should see his stock rise after his performance in the event. He scores well at all three levels with a nice jump shot and aggressiveness near the rim. As the best 2012 players in Wyoming, Ryan has a chance to garner some nice mid to low major interest. Applehans was the other M.O.P. He is a dynamic scorer who shoots the ball very well and handles the ball well in traffic. He should be a solid RMAC target for schools looking for a good point guard and should see his stock rise from his performance in the event.

In addition to those three players, an additional ten 2012 players were named to the All Event Team. This group was led by Canyon Barry (6'5" SG Cheyenne Mountain) and Alex Welsh (6'6" SF Pomona). Both players would have made a very strong case for Most Outstanding Player if they were to have attended the entire camp. Barry is a long wing who shoots the ball well and gets better seemingly by the day. He's also extremely high academic. Welsh is one of the top players in the state and has a chance to be Mr. Basketball next season. He's a long, versatile player who scores well at the rim and shoots the ball equally well. In addition to those two standouts, Eric Rayer (6'1" PG Coronado) and Ryan Cook (6'5" SF Rampart) were outstanding in the camp as well. Rayer is a tough, hard-nosed guard who shoots the ball well from all levels and is an aggressive defender. He's also an academic standout and should make an RMAC school very happy. Cook is a very athletic mid-sized player with a thick frame who plays hard and finishes well around the rim. He attacks the basket very hard and is also a very nice RMAC prospect who excels in the classroom as well.

Six other 2012 players made the All Event Team. Kai Belveal (6'2" SG Cheyenne Mountain) is another academic standout who shoots the ball well and plays very hard. He's a versatile defender and has improved a ton since the end of the high school season. Tim Haas (6'3" SG Arapahoe) is one of the most underrated players in the state. His motor never stops running and he scores well going to the rim and defends very well. He's great in transition and has turned himself into a very nice RMAC target. Alex Padgett is a nice sized wing who shoots the ball well and can score in bunches. His size and ability to shoot the ball should pique the interest of some nice schools. Kyle Broekhuis is a nice mid-sized player with a ton of upside. He shoots the ball well and uses his length to be a solid defender. The final two 2012 players to make the All Event Team were Nick Ongarato (6'3" SG Broomfield) and Michael Zeller (6'3" SF Green Mountain). Ongarato is a very long wing with outstanding instincts who scores well at all three levels and defends very well. Zeller is an active mid-sized player who runs the floor very well and plays hard on both ends of the floor.

In addition to the standouts that were named to the All Event Team, Cody Heimann (6'4" SG Niwot) would have certainly been selected if he would have attended the entire camp. He was outstanding on the day he did attend though. He's a long, athletic wing who plays very hard and is very high academic. Other 2012 players who played well but didn't quite make the All Event Team include Zach Linguist (6'2" SG Rampart), Derrick White (6'1" SG Legend) and Logan Walker (5'10" SG Elizabeth), Brad Chacho (6'3" SG Golden), Scott Dickey (6'2" CG Regis), Taylor Voss (5'10" PG Pueblo South) and Jeremy Reitingier (6'5" SF Air Academy), amongst others.

UNDERCLASSMEN - CLASS OF 2013 (JUNIORS) AND 2014 (SOPHOMORES)

The Underclassmen in the event made a very strong showing, especially the Class of 2013. This group was led by Alex Terpstra (6'4" SG Denver Christian 2013) and Zach Rusk (6'2" SG ThunderRidge 2013), who were named the Top Underclassmen in the event. Terpstra is a long wing who is one of the best shooters in the state. He has improved his ability to score going to the rim and has a ton of upside. Rusk is a strong wing who plays very hard and always seems to be in the right place at the right time. Both players have a bright future ahead of them. Dezmond James (6'3" SG Lewis-Palmer 2013) also made a strong case to be named Top Underclassmen. He is a nice sized wing who can play a variety of positions. He's a nice looking prospect who handles the ball well and scores well going to the rim. The final 2013 player to make the All Event Team was Aaron Montgomery (6'3" SF Grandview), who had a breakout performance in the camp. He's a very underrated prospect who can score the ball well and is a nice shooter.

Other underclassmen who played well but didn't quite make the All Event Team include Tim Clemens (6'3" SF Wasson 2013), Tyler Owens (6'2" CG Lewis-Palmer 2013), Josh Steward (6'2" SG Heritage 2013), Tory Belveal (6'2" SG Cheyenne Mountain 2013), Denis Terzic (6'5" SF Smoky Hill), Dylan Clark (5'11" SG Sand Creek 2014) and Chances Matlock (6'3" SF Falcon 2014), amongst others.
